INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT.

It is a guess that somebody is getting spanked from time to time for perpetrating that mistake of making "invisible government" an issue in this campaign. There could hardly have been a more ludicrous blunder than for a Democratic management to drag that particular issue to the front, anyhow; but to charge that Hughes is the man who is going to be ruled by invisible and vicious forces is equal to the height of the absurdity of the charge by Boss Watson's jumping-jack candidate for governor that Judge Ira E. Robinson was a nation-wide guffaw has greeted the effort to make Charles Evans Hughes look like the exponent of gang control. If ever there was a man who risked his whole political career on his determination to keep everything in the wide open, that man has been Hughes. In the insurance inquiry his special business was turning the light into the dark places. He proved himself an adept at manipulating the tell-tale ray; he compelled attention, as no other man had done, to the fact that publicity was the potent cure for a great complexity of evils that had grown into the business system. He brought under the spotlight many practices that had been condoned and even regarded as harmless if not positively virtuous; but that, examined in the cold, pitiless light of undiluted public interest, were seen to be objectionable and dangerous.

Then he was promoted to the governorship because the people were of opinion that that same inquiring disposition and love for plain daylight ought to be useful in solving some riddles concerning public administration. As a political executive he demonstrated that publicity, plus the public, could accomplish ends that were never to be attained through dickers, bargains, brokerage in patronage and favors.

To bring the accusation of invisible government against a man with the Hughes record was just about the last thing that a sensible campaign management would have permitted. Somebody gave some sadly mistaken advice, and a sadly mistaken candidate acted upon it, with results highly disastrous. Now folks are asking about invisible influences; inquiring about who is Colonel House, and what does he represent, and why is he so potent in presidential councils; wondering who are the advisers.

WHY?

It would be interesting to know just why it was that the Mayor refused to permit Judge Ira Robinson to address the crowd from the court house steps yesterday afternoon.

Was it because he had no orders from the Gang leaders and therefore did not know what to do in the circumstances?

Or is his partisanship of such a narrow type that he did not want the Republicans to show what a large crowd they can produce at a political meeting when they get a chance?

It certainly was not because there is any law on the statute book that he feels any great amount of respect for, nor because the Democratic campaign managers in this city requested him to act as he did, for they know, if the Mayor does not, that the childish action of the city government, which every one knows belongs to the Democratic gang government of Marion county, made no end of votes for the Republican ticket.

Every time the city government has aught to do a good turn for the Democratic campaign it has done it a great deal of harm. That was the case when it amended the ordinance so that the hideous Wilson club banner could be put back in place and it was the case yesterday and on several other occasions.

Has the Mayor become a Democratic hoodoo?

GREAT DEMONSTRATION.

THE showing made by the Republicans in honor of the coming of Judge Robinson to Marion county must have sent cold chills down the backs of the Democratic gangsters. There was a great outpouring both in this city and in Mannington and on every hand there was evidence that the Republican party is thoroughly aroused and prepared to put up a fight of the winning kind on election day.

In spite of the studied effort to mar the effect by driving street car and vehicular traffic through it at every possible opportunity, the parade which welcomed the Republican candidate to Fairmont was large and interesting. It was by far the most successful feature of the campaign in this section of the state.

The gathering at the court house, although it was held in the middle of the day and on the day preceding Saturday, was the largest meeting held in this county so far by either party. It was twice as large as the meeting held for Cornwell, which, by the way, was held on Saturday night but the people were so little interested in what the Democratic stalking horse had to say that they did not trouble to go inside for the purpose.

Perhaps the most encouraging feature of the demonstration yesterday from the standpoint of good government and honest politics was the great turn out of the country people. They wanted to hear what Judge Robinson had to say because they are going to vote for him and the whole Republican ticket.

Yesterday proves that the Republicans can win even in Marion county if they make the proper effort. Let every Republican and every voter who believes that the people and not the law defying corporations should rule in West Virginia turn out on November 7 and vote for Hughes and Robinson.

TWO CANDIDATES.

THE people of Marion county have now heard both of the gubernatorial candidates. It should not be hard for them to make up their minds how they should vote if they desire to promote the best interests of the State of West Virginia.

In Cornwell they saw and heard a candidate who "knocked" all the progressive measures that have been adopted since the state came into the control of Republicans; whose record shows that he is against everything that the plain people, especially the people who work for the great corporations, want, and that he is for everything that these same corporations desire.

In Robinson they saw a man of the people who has a distinguished record of service in the people's interest; who is moreover one of the great lawyers of the country. Unlike his opponent, Judge Robinson is frank about what he stands for. He is pledged to continue the progressive policies that have found so much favor with the people during the past five or six years and to make the corporations bear their share of the burden of taxation.

The man who does not vote for Judge Robinson on election day is going to be sorry for it.

SPANISH AND RUSSIAN.

ENGLAND is studying the Russian language, we learn from the London Times. Which means, although the Times does not say so, that England is getting ready to go in earnest after Russian trade at the conclusion of the war.

This trade for years has been in German control. American students of business conditions have seen in Russia a great outlook for American enterprise and capital. Is America doing anything to prepare the way for entrance into this field?

Russia is our nearest neighbor, excepting Canada and Mexico. The Czar's Siberian dominions lie across the narrow Bering strait from our own northern empire of Alaska. Yet our ideas of Russia and the Russians are gained from reading the war news and watching Diaghileff's ballet.

In Spanish we are making better progress. At the University of Iowa, which lies about as far from the frontier in either direction as any school could, 280 students are studying the chief language of Latin America today, where in 1910 there were but 16.

The movement for the study of Spanish is showing an encouraging growth. But how about a little Russian?

In the death of Henry Provance Snyder, president of The Courier company and editor of The Courier, of Connellsville, journalism in this country loses one of its most valuable members. Like the Oil City Derrick the Connellsville Courier is a newspaper of more than national wide importance published in a small interior city. It attained its widespread fame and influence solely because Henry P. Snyder understood fully the obligations of journalism in his particular community and discharged them with uncommon fidelity and intelligence. Mr. Snyder will be missed in Connellsville and in Pennsylvania where he was a potent influence, but he will be missed even more among the coke and iron people of the whole world. It is given to few country newspaper men to attain such distinction.

There is one thing that may be said about the British navy; it is always on the job. Any time the German sea forces feel the need of the stimulus that comes of a stiff fight all they need to do is to poke their noses out of the place where they are hiding.

Coroner Frank Lloyd's plans for the investigation of the Jamison mine disaster are all that they should be, and if they are carried out with due diligence there is a prospect that some new light will be thrown upon the problem of mine hazards.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt is coming here, it is announced, to reply to the attacks which a local attorney for the anti-suffrage cause has made upon eminent advocates of equal suffrage. The people of Fairmont and Marion county doubtless will be delighted to hear such a distinguished woman, but it is to be hoped she will not devote too much of her time to mud slinging opponents. That would be, to borrow a favorite expression of a journalist of much distinction in an earlier day, like dring columbiads at mosquitoes.

SHORT AND SNAPPY.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, as a public speaker, is the equal of any that has appeared in Parkersburg, bar none. The point she made that equal suffrage will put an end to war and preserve honorable peace is well taken.—Parkersburg Sentinel.

Chief of Police to Fight Charges of Plotting

CHARLES C. HEALEY

Charles Healey, Chicago police chief plans a hard fight when tried on charges of permitting vice and plotting with the secretary of the millionaire Sportsmen's club to nullify anti-gambling laws. He is under grand jury indictment.

The chief, political protégé of William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, is the center of a fight between the mayor and Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney, in which Hoyne raided the millionaire's club and the mayor of vice and carried away documents.

Mrs. Watkins Buried In Fleming Cemetery

Funeral services over the body of Mrs. Henrietta Watkins, whose death occurred on Thursday, were held this afternoon from her late residence at the corner of Walnut avenue and Third street. Dr. J. C. Broomfield of the M. P. Temple conducted the services and a quartette from the church choir composed of Mrs. Edward Slack, Mrs. W. S. Hamilton, Prof. Louis Black and Jack Abbott sang several selections. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

At the conclusion of the services the body was conveyed to the Fleming cemetery where interment was made. The pall bearers were the three sons of the deceased, William, Mont, and Paul Watkins, two brothers, L. W. and Frank E. Kelley and a nephew, Frank Kelley.

Among relatives here for the services were Mr. and Mrs. Mont Watkins and children, of Pittsburgh; Paul Watkins, of Carnegie, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Verner Rightmire, of Parsons, and Mrs. Rightmire, of Farnsworth, W. Va.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

(BY CONDO.)

BITS OF STATE NEWS

The Grimes Golden Orchard company, of Berkeley county, cut a handsome "melon" at a meeting of the stockholders, when a dividend of 50 per cent was declared on the capital of $12,000, making $6,000 of profits turned over to the stockholders this year. Last year the dividend was 15 per cent, and the company paid several thousand dollars in debts also. The orchard this year produced a total of 5,500 barrels of Grimes Golden apples, which were all sold at good prices. The earnings were $9,000, or more than $1.60 per barrel. This is one of the best reports received this year on local orchard operations. The officers of the company are as follows: President, Orlando Harrison; vice president, E. C. Henshaw; secretary-treasurer, W. H. Thomas; manager, E. F. Thomas.

The Parkersburg Dock company has closed a contract for the fitting up of three large steamers for carrying oil. The contract was made with the Gulf Refining company, through Mr. Kennedy, who was there Tuesday afternoon. The contract price is $20,000. The boats are constructed of steel and are 200 feet long, 36 feet wide and 10 1/2 feet in depth. Their carrying capacity is 1,600 tons, and they draw 9 1/2 feet of water. The top cargo boxes will be taken off and solid steel bulkheads will be put in, fitting them out as steel barges for the purpose of carrying oil. By putting in the steel bulkheads the boats are made secure for carrying purposes, as each compartment will be complete and will be unharmed if any other should be damaged. Knocking a hole in any one compartment, the different compartments are also provided for carrying different grades of oil.

Col. Sam W. Cain, one of the members of the force at the Internal revenue office at Parkersburg, was given the surprise of his life on Tuesday evening in honor of his fifty-second birthday anniversary. With a cleverly arranged plot Mr. Cain was piled up with work part of the conspirators, the other members of the force, going out and buying a very handsome traveling bag and then hustling out to Mr. Cain's home on Oak street. When Mr. Cain walked into his home he found the whole Internal revenue force on hand.

There was a marriage ceremony in the Christian church at Clarksburg the other day which if not without precedent, was at least unusual. Michael McCauley, well known glass worker, and Miss Lillian Cain made confession, got forgiveness, became members of the church, and were joined in matrimony in what amounted to one long ceremony. A Clarksburg newspaper after telling of the incident describes the close as follows:

"Then an audience which had watched through all these tense moments arose to its feet. A hymn was sung, and a intue later hundreds of persons were wending their way to the altar to greet two faces that beamed with sunshine and two hearts as one. It was an event that was a near approach to idealism. It was a time of happiness in a young man's and a young woman's heart that is so wonderful that it is hardly describable."

The marriage license had been obtained several days previous, but the couple had kept it secret. The unique marriage ceremony at the church came as a complete surprise to their many friends.

WEST VIRGINIA PATENTS.

As reported by H. E. Dunlap, patent lawyer, of Wheeling, W. Va., the Patent Office records show the recent issue of the following patents to West Virginia inventors: Robert M. Albright, Elkins, brake attachments for automobiles; Joseph B. Dreesel, Weirton, assignor to The Phelps Car Co., Baltimore, Md., feeding means for can-body blanks; Dellet T. Polling, Philippi, nut-lock.

CAN'T LOSE HAIR.

Twenty Years from Today a Bald-headed Man Will Be an Unusual Sight.

One of the most prominent druggists of America made a statement a few weeks ago which has caused a great deal of discussion among scientists in the medical press.
He said: "If the new hair growth Mildred's Hair Remedy, increases its sales as it has during the past year it will be used by nearly every man, woman and child in America within eight years."
"When Mildred's Hair Remedy is used almost universally, dandruff will disappear and with its departure baldness, itching scalp, splitting hair and all scalp diseases will follow and twenty years from now a bald head will be a rarity."
There is only one way to cure dandruff, and that is to kill the germ. There is only one hair preparation that will kill the germs and that is Mildred's Hair Remedy. This unique hair restorer with its record of thousands of cures will grow hair on any head where there is a life left. It will cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp in three weeks, or money back.

It is the most pleasant and invigorating tonic, is not sticky or greasy, and is used extensively by ladies of refinement who desire to have and to keep their hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant. Fifty cents for a large bottle at Holt Drug Company, Fairmont or Prescription Pharmacy, Mannington. Mail orders filled by Mildred Louise Co., Boston, Mass.

INDUSTRIAL FAIRMONT

"The Owens Bottling works have been forced to lose several hours this week because of the shortage of gas," declared S. S. Cochran, West Virginia manager of the Owens works, yesterday. Mr. Cochran declared that when an oil producer station was planned by the company for this winter assurances of the traction company were that they would furnish adequate gas were so strong that the idea was abandoned. The traction company, however, is making extensive arrangements for the supplying of the Owens plant with full pressure and it is not believed that any drastic shortage will be present this winter.

"Not only is labor in Fairmont scarce," says J. M. Kiser, of the firm of Kiser and Brothers, contractors, "but I find in the rural and mining districts of Marion county an even greater scarcity of labor. In some of my construction jobs in Monongah, Hutchinson, Ida May and Caroline, I am having the greatest difficulty in securing enough labor to keep my operations going nicely."

Enough electricity to electrocute the army of the Kaiser is passed through a single room at the plant of the Monongahela Valley Traction Company each day. The current as it comes from the generators is of 220 volts intensity. Into the converter room it comes and running through transformers it is boosted to 2,500 volts. At this intensity it is used to operate the traction cars of the company and is carried to Fairmont. Before it can be used for domestic lighting however, it must be resteppped back down to 220 volts.

An investigation looking toward the lowering of the revenue tax on stogie, or at least taxing them as stogies and not as cigars, as they are now taxed, is being made by the United States Revenue Department. In the next few weeks, Chief Blocher, of the Revenue department, in the First district, will bring to Fairmont one of the chiefs of the Revenue department in Washington who will talk to local stogie men concerning the matter. At present the revenue rate on a three for a nickel stogie is exactly the same as on a fifty cent cigar, in both cases $3 a thousand. This is an unequal tax the stogie makers declare.

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" IS THE ONLY REAL STOMACH REGULATOR KNOWN.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that just makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If you eat ferments into stubborn lumps you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; heart is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—at most marvelous, and the joy is the harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's quickest, surest and most powerful stomach regulator known.
